Consob's New Website Is Now Live

Easier navigation and searches for faster access to information

Consob's new institutional website is now live. It has been completely redesigned to provide users with easier access to information, making the browsing experience and the search for documents, regulations, and publications simpler and more intuitive.

The new website is not merely a graphical update but represents a comprehensive overhaul of the entire content architecture and the way in which users, investors, market participants, and the general public can access the vast wealth of information available on the Consob website.

The site features reorganized content, dedicated pathways for different user types, and a new search engine designed to optimize the retrieval of documents and information. The goal is to improve accessibility to various content, optimize the visibility of different pages, enhance the clarity of language, and increase the usability of content on mobile devices, such as smartphones and tablets.

The new website represents a further step in the digital evolution process launched by Consob in 2025, which led to the creation of various social media profiles (LinkedIn, Instagram, and Facebook) and will continue in the coming months through further updates, new services, and progressive improvements, including greater integration with social networks.
