On 28 November, at the Salone d'Onore of the Barracks 'Sante Laria' in Rome, the 'Financial Legality Day' will be celebrated, promoted by the Edufin Committee, in agreement with the Guardia di Finanza and the Ministry of Education and Merit, and sponsored by the Ministry of Economy and Finance.

The event will be attended by the President of the Republic, Sergio Mattarella, the Minister of Economy and Finance, Giancarlo Giorgetti, the Minister of Education and Merit, Giuseppe Valditara, and the Commander General of the Guardia di Finanza, Andrea De Gennaro.

The Director of the Edufin Committee, Donato Masciandaro, will give a speech on the importance of the link between financial education and the defence of legality, on which it is crucial to raise awareness among the younger generations, the citizens of tomorrow, so that they can exert an active behaviour. 'We have decided to schedule this important appointment as part of the Edufin Month so that young people, actors in the digital world and at the same time aware of the risks that economic and financial choices involve, can become defenders of their integrity, of their families, and of the country as a whole,' says Masciandaro.

The leading actors of the day will be the students of selected Roman schools for a reflection and in-depth study on the culture of financial legality as an element of development and social growth.

During the event, as an example of the active role of our 'best youth', the project 'Convivere con la legalità' (Living together with legality), devised and produced by the students of the 'Giuseppe Peano' scientific and linguistic high school in Rome, will be presented to emphasise the importance of respecting tax rules and the sense of civil and social responsibility linked to the practice of active citizenship.
